THE TIMES.

A. H. CLEMENT, EDITOR.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 31, 1906.

Buckingham Court February 13 Call on the editor at Mrs. Pratt's Hotel.

The Evening Journal gives the age of Hon Paul McKae at 58, and yet he is'nt married.

Hon. R. G. Southall, of the 4th District, has been ill in Richmond with pneumonia, but is reported as being better.

We wonder if the average Virginia legislator even sees himself as the cartoonist sees him? Our friend, Hon. Camm Patteson for instance.

Our Legislators must finish their work in 60 days or work without pay, and it is with politicians as it is with preachers, "poor pay, poor preach."

Let's dismiss the subject of "Compulsory education," stop naming new school officials, and go to building new and better school houses, and providing better pay for BETTER TEACHERS.

President Roosevelt for a third term is already an issue. The unwritten law of the land meets it at the threshold and will see to it that it goes no farther. What Washington declined no other man need ask for.

If Governor Swanson wants to live in the hearts of Virginians, let him see to it that his administration is a good-roads-administration. Not in name, but in fact, not in messages but in actual and practical results.

The Nelson County Times comes to us now enlarged to 8-pages. Mr Scott Heath, the editor, received his training in this office, and we know he will never be satisfied until he gives his people the best in the newspaper business.

We need not urge that you will be Governor of the whole State and of every man, woman and child who are honored with homes in Virginia Reward your friends but don't punish your enemies. Four years will soon be gone and then you will be in the ranks again.

The effort to increase the salary of Circuit Judges to $3000 failed. They now receive $2500 an' mileage, and we hear of no resigned resignations. We believe, however, in good pay and good preaching.

It would be right hard to rearrange the Congressional districts so as to please everybody, but still more difficult so to fix them as to fund "Pure-Election" Bob's desire into a seat in Congress. Something may happen but this one thing won't.

The legislature has ratified the verdict of the Democrats of the State and Senator Martin is be ond controversy his own successor. We didn't vote for him, but we are always ready to bow to the will of the majority and to sing out with the enthusiastic Frenchman, "The King is dead! Long live the King."

The present Commonwealth's Attorney for Richmond may be a brilli nt advocate but displays bad taste when in the prosecution of his client he turns upon a physician to denounce him as "liar," "thief," "scoundrel," as he is reported to have done in the Burton case.

Denounce the crime but not the criminal.

We salute you Governor Swanson, with good wishe, and the earnest hope that your administration may prove a blessing to our State. Your boyhood-aspiration has been gratified, now make the most of it.

The past brings to you inspiration, the present is of thrilling interest and the future beckons on to even nobler and better things.

The movement recently inaugurated in Richmond, in the interest of ex-convicts, should command the sympathy and active support of all good men and women in the Commonwealth. To turn a stained character out into the world without a word of cheer, or a hand to help, or a heart to feel for the unfortunate is unchristian and inhuman. The offending brother is entitled to "another chance," but brother-man must aid him in the effort to find it. Left to himself ruin awaits him, but with loving sympathy there comes strength and in most cases rescue. Let the movement assume State proportions.

It will be good news to our people to know that Mr. Joseph O'Brien, owner of the celebrated California stallion, "Montoona," has arranged to have this splendid trotting horse make the season at this place. For pedigree, terms and date, see advertisement in this issue.

A recent writer for one of the magazines insists on it that man should liv six score years, and then be ready to die, and glad to die. The God-assigned limit is three score and ten, and God is infinitely wise and man is finite in all things.

This is the more important truth "it is appointed unto man once to die, and after that comes the Judgment."

And now our State Legislators have taken the fight against the non-issuing-pass-railway Companies and the three-cents-a-mile fare may be reduced to a two. The railroads are great but the Government is greater, even the State Government and the County, and the municipal. The fight will be watched with intense interest. Travel is light since the pass abuse has been abolished.

Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky says, if he can't sleep he takes a drink of Bourbon, and if that does'nt make him sleep he takes another, and if that does'nt have the desired effect he takes a third, and then he does'nt care whether he sleeps or not. We can't recommend the Senator's prescription. Better leave the Bourbon off and sleep naturally.

Park At Appomattox.

In Washington Thursday Congressman Flood introduced a bill to appropriate $50,000 for the purchase of the McLean lands and adjacent property at Appomattox, to preserve the scene of the surrender of the Army of Northern Virginia to General Grant.

The bill directs the Secretary of War to procure, by purchase or condemnation, the old McLean farm and house at Appomattox, where the terms of peace were agreed upon between General Grant and General Lee on April 9, 1865, and other adjacent plots of land—not exceeding 100 acres in all—upon which the events connected with the surrender took place, and which were marked, under the direction of the Secretary of War in 1892, by the erection of cast-iron tablets designating the important positions occupied by the Union and Confederate armies on April 8 and 9 prior to the surrender.

If the bill is passed by Congress it will be the duty of the Secretary of war to restore the McLean dwelling, which has been torn down, in accordance with its original plan, making use of the material of the house which has been upon the ground preserved, and to ascertain and substantially mark the locations of other historic spots around Appomattox Courthouse.

Explanatory.

Several times we have been asked if we were going out of the retail business, and in the future sell only by wholesale. The entire first floor of our new quarters is now occupied by Messrs. Gilliam & Co. We will be used as a retail department and we hope by giving the trade better values that the other fellow and polite service, to merit and gain a large share of retail patronage.

THE WHOLESALE DEPARTMENT

Shall in no way interfere with the retail service, but buying in large quantities direct from the makers will enable us to add force to our motto—"We save you something on everything."

Right now we are holding a big removal sale and if you have anything to buy come and see us, it means dollars saved. During the six years we have asked for your trade this is our first sale, because our prices have always been uniformly low, and less than many so called special and cost sales.

Did you ever think what it means to us to carry over a stock of goods?

First. It means a tremendous amount of extra storage room—the use of valuable space for which we pay rent. It means filling scores of great packing cases with winter suits and coats, woolen underwear, winter dress goods, and the like. It means packing them good. Proper care from moths or dust or ruin. No easy task where you consider a whole year's business counts. It means dollars at 4 cents tied up for six months or more and the loss of earning power or interest on that money. Therefore, you consider it your business to put the knife in deep right now and carve it over with. That is why you can come to this sale with a few dollars and go away with an outrageous fine new outfit at a saving of 25 per cent to 33 1-3 per cent.

Horrible Death

Of Randolph Jamerson, at Concord Depot, Va., Jan. 29th, 1906. The deceased resided near Concord; he was run over and instantly killed by a freight train of the N & W. Ry. He left Lynchburg Saturday night on a freight train for this home near here and by some unknown act fell or was caught under the train, was dragged about 300 yards on the inside of the rails until his clothing was entirely stripped from him and his body horribly mangled, his head was crushed, foot cut off, body broken, and face badly disfigured. How it could have occurred is a mystery. His body was first found by Mr. Paul C. Wharton. The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Jamerson and is survived by four brothers and three sister s—Messrs. Clifton, Robert, Walker and Letcher Jamerson and Mrs. Tom Martin, Mrs. Jno. Rogers, and Mrs. Lottie Staples. He was an employee of the N. & W. Ry., Engineer Corps, and was a strictly honest, hard working young man.

The entire family is grief-stricken over the sad affair.

Mr. W. H. Camp, Petersburg, Va.

Dear Sir: Yours to hand and noted, and in reply will say I purchased two barrels of Camp's Pepperd Chemicals from your agent at this point, Mr. Wingfield. I intending using it on corn, but as Somebody or Revenue, I had lots of riding to do about that time and overlooked it. So when I came to plant tobacco I was in a hurry and did not take the time to mix it, but drilled it along side of a P. P. S. guano, same proportion, 200 lbs. to the acre, and I have never been able to tell the difference, it is all fine tobacco. There is no experimental station on my farm, run by the Bureau of Soils, and the Manager made considerable fun of me using Chemicals. He seemed to doubt that it contained the ingredients it claimed to, so we drew a sample and he took it to Washington and had it analyzed. It ran 1 pc cent higher on ammonia than you claimed and about the same on potash. I know several parties tha did use your chemicals according to your directions this year with fine results.

Very respectfully, H. C. BABCOCK
